Consideration is the payment by a person of money or anything of value. The three elements of a Lottery are Prize, Chance and Consideration. Remove any one of those elements and there is no lottery. Amounts of voluntary contribution may be suggested, however, under Kansas law it is illegal to require a person make a specific donation or contribution in order to participate in a Las Vegas or Casino Night.

Individuals are under no obligation to make a contribution and may not be barred from participation if they choose not to make any donation. It is illegal to require any person to make a donation or contribution in order to gain admittance to "casino night" to play the games.

Featured Speakers

Governor Mark Parkinson
(Invited)

Mark Parkinson became Kansas' 45th Governor on April 28, 2009. Governor Parkinson was elected to the Kansas House of Representatives in 1990. Two years later, he was elected to the Kansas Senate. While in the Legislature, Governor Parkinson was known as someone who bridged party lines. He worked to strengthen Kansas schools and enhance local control. In 1996, Governor Parkinson's career path focused on a new passion: helping enhance older Kansans' quality of life through first-class elder-care retirement facilities. His company's assisted living facilities received national recognition for their design and the business was named as an outstanding business in Northeast Johnson County. (Invited)

Diana Waugh

Diana Waugh brings both formal education and years of practical nursing experience to her audience. She has served on faculties in all types of nursing programs; managed a regional rehabilitation program; served as a DON, worked as a long term care consultant for over 19 years; and even learned how to write and produce television commercials. In each endeavor, teamwork has been the key to her success. Her belief in teamwork influences her approach to every topic she addresses. The second driving force in Diana's practice is the PERSON. Diana believes that true cultural change will occur when both the staff and the residents in long term care settings are confident and comfortable knowing they are being treated as valuable individuals.

Frank Pastizzo's

Frank Pastizzo's background includes working side-by-side with doctors in air force emergency rooms, teaching high school English and Drama in England, touring as a stand-up comedian and professional actor in Europe and the U.S., and working as a health care administrator and marketing executive for various agencies in New York. Through an eclectic mix of music, comedy and poignant story telling from his diverse background, Frank Pastizzo forges a connection with his audiences. Seeing the workplace as an extension of our lives where we spend the majority of our time, Frank inspires us to bring the qualities we hold most ideal in our family lives, into our schools, businesses and organizations.

Bullets & Booze Part I

Pain management has been challenging for years. With an increasing number of residents with dementia, the challenge is even greater. Falls, negative behaviors and general unrest in residents can all point to untreated or under treated pain. If pain management were a matter of meds, this topic wouldn't be exciting, interesting, or the primary focus of the new F309 guideline. There have been means to manage pain dating before biting on bullets or the use of alcohol in the Old West! Why person-centered interventions, both non-medication and medication, aren't being employed adequately will be the focus of this session. A look at the beliefs and attitudes of the residents, the nurses, the physicians and finally the facility management will be addressed.
